

Library of Congress O-105

BELIEVED UNPUBLISHED. A rare photograph by an unknown cameraman, probably Gardner, taken at the east front of the Capitol Building, Washington, D. C., Saturday, March 4, 1865. Discovered by Lloyd Ostendorf in the files of the National Archives in February, 1962, this scene appears to be the earliest of the Second Inaugural views which shows Lincoln.