

Courtesy Emerson Carpenter Ives O-111

THE SECOND INAUGURAL ADDRESS—FIRST PUBLICATION. Photograph, possibly by Alexander Gardner, east front of Capitol Building, Washington, D. C., Saturday, March 4, 1865. Lincoln's features are slightly retouched to give them more contrast to the background. A soldier observed that Lincoln's voice "was not heavy or coarse, but singularly clear and penetrating, with almost a metallic ring."